

401(k) Annual Administration Checklist for 2025

401(k) Annual Administration 2025

INTRODUCTION

An important 401(k) fiduciary responsibility is ensuring plan administration tasks are completed timely each year. Our 2025 checklist makes this job easy.

401(k) plans are popular today because they offer generous tax benefits to employers and employees. However, to qualify for these benefits, 401(k) plans must complete a myriad of plan administration tasks each year. It's ultimately up to employers to ensure each task is completed timely. Meeting this important fiduciary responsibility can seem overwhelming, but it doesn't need to be. The key is hiring a 401(k) provider that's willing and able to do three things - 1) summarize all required tasks, 2) complete the more difficult and time-consuming ones, and 3) provide straightforward guidance for the rest.

Annual 401(k) administration tasks generally fall into one of four categories – nondiscrimination testing, Form 5500 reporting, participant disclosure, and plan document maintenance. If you're an employer, we recommend managing the completion of these tasks using a checklist.

A checklist can serve another important purpose - monitoring your 401(k) provider's job performance. As a 401(k) fiduciary, you can't simply assume your 401(k) provider is doing their job. You must "monitor" them - to ensure they're doing a competent and timely job. A checklist can make monitoring easy.

Don't have a 401(k) administration checklist for the 2025 plan year? Use our checklist. It's broken into 3 sections:

- Deadline Tasks – Summarizes the tasks that must be completed by a specific deadline
- Periodic Tasks – Summarizes the tasks that may need completed during the year
- Plan Records – Summarizes the plan year records to keep for documentation purposes

Periodic Tasks (Continued)

Item (Continued)	Initials
If the plan allows participant loans, ensure all loans are repaid according to the terms of the plan's loan policy and each loan's promissory note.	<hr/>
Ensure employee salary deferrals and loan payments are deposited timely. Employers must deposit deferrals as soon as they can be segregated from employer assets. Most employers deposit salary deferrals when making payroll tax deposits.	<hr/>
Periodically complete plan "housekeeping" (recommended quarterly), including:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Cash-out small account balances related to terminated participants.</li><li>• Process any defaulted loans.</li><li>• Use any unallocated forfeitures.</li></ul>	<hr/>
Limit 401(k) deferrals to IRC 402(g) limit ($23,500 for 2025). Pre-tax and Roth 401(k) deferrals (if applicable) are combined for purposes of the IRC 402(g) limit.	<hr/>

Plan Records

Due to ERISA document retention rules, you must retain detailed 401(k) records, including testing results, transactions and employee activity, for at least 6 years. Compliance with these rules is important because missing records can make it more difficult to answer questions about plan operations, which can increase your liability unnecessarily.

Below is a list of items you should retain related to the 2025 plan year. Enter your initials to the right of each item you have reviewed for sufficiency. Enter "N/A" if not applicable.

File Item

Annual Valuation – Contains the participant-level transactions for the plan year, including contribution, distribution and fee activity. If received quarterly, file all four quarters.

---

Annual Trustee/Custodian Report – Contains the trust-level transactions for the plan year, including all purchases and sales that occurred in trust. If received quarterly, file all four quarters.
